

By the Numbers

We want you to know®
SPONSORED BY

Fighting the flu

As flu season reaches its peak, employers and public health officials can take comfort that flu protection messages are getting through to employees. More than 70% of employees say that H1N1 flu fears have made them more careful about protecting their health this year, according to a poll.

HERE'S HOW THEY'VE CHANGED THEIR BEHAVIOR:

47% are more likely to WASH their hands or avoid touching people or workplace surfaces.

8% are more likely to stay HOME or keep family members at home if they have flu symptoms.

16% are more inclined to get a flu SHOT.

29% have not CHANGED their habits at all.

